

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
OFFICE OF THE DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF FOR LOGISTICS
500 ARMY PENTAGON
WASHINGTON, DC 20310-0500

10 OCT 1996

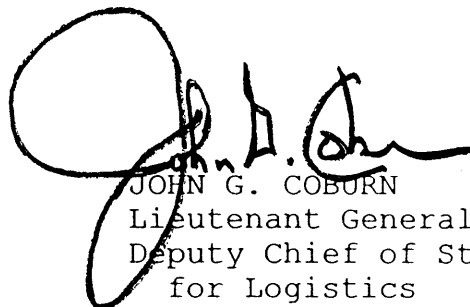

Army LogPro Office

MEMORANDUM FOR CIVILIAN PERSONNEL OF THE CAREER PROGRAMS
FOR SUPPLY MANAGEMENT, MATERIEL MAINTENANCE
MANAGEMENT AND TRANSPORTATION MANAGEMENT

SUBJECT: Army Civilian Training Education Development
Systems Plan (ACTEDS)

1. As Functional Chief for Career Programs 13, 17, and 24, I fully support the enclosed ACTEDS plan for Supply Management, Materiel Maintenance Management, and Transportation Management Career Programs. This plan supports the Army's efforts to ensure a trained and ready force in a very dynamic environment and is focused on a sound balance among the Army's imperatives: quality people, leader development, training, modern equipment, force mix, and doctrine.
2. ACTEDS is intended to guide your development by defining the essential technical training and leadership development needed for successful accomplishment of your mission. This training is designed to strengthen your core competencies and to prepare you to meet the challenges of the 21st Century.
3. As an Army civilian, you are an essential link in our ability to manage the Army's worldwide deployment and readiness sustainment operations. I urge you to actively seek training and to aggressively approach your development as the Army of the future will be dependent on a well-trained and highly-diversified civilian work force. Follow this guide to maximize your professional skills and enhance your career development.
4. I also invite you to recommend improvement to the plan by forwarding your comments to Headquarters, Department of the Army, LogPro Office, Suite 216, 700 Quarters Road, Fort Lee, VA 23801-1703.

Encl

JOHN G. COBURN
Lieutenant General, GS
Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics

